REDUCE BELLY FAT
TONE + FIRM + SCULPT

COOLSCULPTING YOUR STOMACH IN MEDFORD, OR + GRANTS PASS, OR

CoolSculpting is known as one of the most revolutionary fat reduction treatments available today. This treatment uses innovative cooling technology known as Cryolipolysis. The cooling treatment targets areas known for collecting fat deposits like the inner thighs, back fat, and one of the most popular treatment areas—the lower stomach. CoolSculpting stomach sessions reduce diet and exercise-resistant fat cells. In addition, CoolSculpting the abdomen is a safe, non-surgical way to reduce fat without invasive surgery or a complicated recovery.

Cool sculpt your tummy to perfection with CoolSculpting stomach treatments at Admire Aesthetics. We are proud to be the leading CoolSculpting provider in Medford, OR, and Grants Pass, OR. Call us today at 541-210-8806 to schedule a consultation and discover how we can contour your stomach, reduce fat deposits, and achieve attractive curves you'll love showing off!

UNDERSTANDING THE CAUSES OF STUBBORN BELLY FAT

Belly fat is a common issue for many people—and not for the reasons you may believe. There are several things that affect the number of fat cells within the body and where they collect. Some of these include gender, genetics, hormones, and age. Once we reach adulthood, the exact number of fat cells in our body, and their placement, is fixed.

While regular weight loss methods like dieting and physical activity influence how much fat those cells store, they never change the total number of fat cells in the body. For instance, you could do tons of cardio and core workouts and lose weight, but the fat cell would merely shrink. If you were to gain the weight back, that fat cell would expand.

The good news is that CoolSculpting your stomach targets and destroys those fat cells. This method of fat reduction is a safe, non-surgical way to target stubborn belly fat and remove those fat cells from the body altogether. Once CoolSculpting eliminates those fat cells, and the body naturally removes them, they never grow back or re-expand. They are gone for good.

HOW COOLSCULPTING YOUR ABDOMEN WORKS

CoolSculpting your abdomen results in natural-looking fat loss as with regular diet and exercise. Unlike liposuction, which involves a surgeon removing fatty tissue during a single, invasive operation, CoolSculpting sessions occur over several weeks, and the results gradually appear.

This method of reducing fat uses the advanced cooling of Cryolipolysis to “freeze” stubborn fat. During your CoolSculpting stomach treatment at Admire Aesthetics, the technician places an applicator onto the bulge of fat being targeted, i.e., the belly. Once the machine activates, the applicator emits a cooling that penetrates deep below the skin, targeting those stubborn fat cells. Since our skin tolerates cold temperatures much better than fat, no surrounding tissues are damaged during the treatment. However, the underlying fat cell's membrane is attacked and eventually “freezes,” causing the membrane to rupture—triggering lipolysis or cell death.

Weeks after your cooling sessions on the abdomen, the lymphatic system gathers and removes all dead cells from the body. This occurs during a natural immune response. After this, the body excretes the dead cells as a form of waste. This process takes place over several weeks. As a result, the CoolSculpting results on the stomach are not sudden or dramatic. Instead, they achieve a natural and gradual transformation.

CoolSculpting vs. Trusculpt: Pros and Cons

Sustaining a healthy weight is a constant battle for many people. It demands discipline and persistence every day. Despite unwavering efforts to live a healthy lifestyle, the target number on the scale may seem out of reach. That's why people consider and resort to plastic surgery to get their dream bodies. Unfortunately, though, it's not the answer for everyone. Surgery poses significant risks, and only some are suitable for it.

Thanks to the advancements in the aesthetics industry, non-surgical body contouring procedures are now a hit among men and women worldwide. However, when researching different options, patients often wonder, "CoolSculpting vs. Trusculpt: how do they differ, and which is better? What are their pros and cons?" Find out what each procedure offers and which is right for you.

What Is CoolSculpting?

CoolSculpting is an FDA-cleared procedure that banishes stubborn fat deposits without invasive surgery. It involves cryolipolysis, the process of cooling fat cells to a temperature that causes them to shrink and come out of the body naturally.

Patients enjoy the natural-looking improvement to their contours after the procedure. It may take up to three months to see the full results. However, once the desired results manifest, they can be long-lasting. We encourage patients to continue practicing a healthy lifestyle to prevent weight gain (which can diminish CoolSculpting effects).

Overall, CoolSculpting is a safe and effective way to reshape your body with minimal downtime. Depending on where you're treating, you could be in and out of the spa within 30 minutes. Multiple treatment areas or a larger area may require more time.

How Effective Is CoolSculpting?

Countless clinical studies have shown CoolSculpting is an effective cosmetic procedure for reducing unwanted fat. Specifically, the treatment has been shown to reduce the size of treated fat cells by up to 25%.<sup>1</sup> Furthermore, the full results show within three months of the procedure.

With a high success rate and a non-invasive approach, it's no wonder CoolSculpting is such a popular choice for those seeking a safe way to sculpt their bodies. However, it's worth noting that personal results vary, and CoolSculpting is not a weight-loss solution.* CoolSculpting is ideal if you're close to your ideal weight and need a contouring solution to target specific areas of excess fat.

How Much Does CoolSculpting Cost?

The cost of CoolSculpting varies based on the number of areas you want to treat and the extent of the treatment required to achieve desired results. The average cost ranges from $750 to $4000 depending on personal needs and goals. Many patients target multiple body parts with CoolSculpting, so the cost of the full treatment can add up.

Are There Side Effects to CoolSculpting?

CoolSculpting is a safe and well-tolerated cosmetic procedure. But like any medical treatment, it can have side effects. Common ones include temporary numbness, redness, swelling, and tenderness in the treated area(s). These sensations usually resolve on their own within a few days. Some patients may also experience mild discomfort during their sessions.

The side effects that come with CoolSculpting are short-lived. Patients report a positive experience with it at Admire Aesthetics, where we have qualified practitioners perform the procedure.

What Is Trusculpt?

Similar to CoolSculpting, Trusculpt is a cutting-edge non-invasive solution for body contouring. But instead of eliminating fat cells via cryolipolysis, it harnesses the power of MonoPolar RF technology. The process works by heating the fat cells until they reach a point of damage. Your body removes the remnants over time, and you'll notice a slimmer, more contoured figure as a result.

Trusculpt's treatment time sets it apart from CoolSculpting. Sessions are only 15 minutes long and patients achieve a similar fat reduction. Whether you're looking to slim down your abdomen or smooth out love handles, Trusculpt offers a safe and effective alternative to surgery. The team at Admire Aesthetics can create a customized treatment plan to meet your body features and aesthetic goals.

Does Trusculpt Really Work?

Studies reveal Trusculpt can significantly decrease fat cells in the targeted area [2]. Results are similar to other non-surgical fat reduction procedures like CoolSculpting. Trusculpt is ideal for patients with a BMI above 30. You can smooth out problem areas like the butt, abdomen, back, love handles, bra line, and thighs.

Trusculpt's novel RF technology has a reputation for being one of the safest and most effective non-surgical body sculpting technologies available. Besides contouring the body, it also tightens the skin around the treated area.

Is Trusculpt Expensive?

Trusculpt's price varies depending on your desired outcome and the number of treatments you need. On average, a single Trusculpt session can cost $400 to $1200. Consult with Admire Aesthetics to get a better understanding of Trusculpt's cost and find out how much it will be for you.

Pros
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Non-invasive treatment</li> <li>• Customizable procedure</li> <li>• Quick and convenient 15-minute appointments</li> <li>• Tightens the skin while eliminating fat</li> <li>• Contours the body</li> <li>• Reduces fat cells by up to 25% in treatment areas</li> </ul>
Cons
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Results may take weeks to show</li> <li>• Not ideal for people with low BMIs</li> <li>• Multiple treatments may be needed</li> <li>• Cost can add up depending on how many sessions you need</li> </ul>

TruSculpt vs. CoolSculpting: Which Should I Get?

CoolSculpting and Trusculpt are both excellent non-invasive body contouring treatments that help people achieve slimmer and more toned physiques. Both are safe and effective, but the best one for you will depend on your needs, goals, and preferences.

When considering Trusculpt vs. CoolSculpt, weigh the pros and cons of each treatment.

Many patients choose CoolSculpting because it has a proven track record. Since it's widely available and used for over a decade, there's plenty of evidence it works. The vacuum applicator makes it easy to target precise areas of fat like the love handles or belly fat.

TruSculpt also has a few things going for it. First, sessions are much shorter (only 15 minutes). It also offers impressive skin tightening benefits on top of fat reduction. With Trusculpt, you don't have to worry about loose skin after fat removal.

But unlike CoolSculpting, Trusculpt isn't as widely available. It may be more difficult to find a provider in your area. There's also less research on the treatment because it's newer.

When making your decision, think about:

- Your desired treatment area
- The amount of fat you want to remove
- The amount of time you're willing to invest in the treatment process

Schedule a consultation with a qualified provider like Admire Aesthetics to discuss your options and determine which is best for you.
