The images depict real CoolTone patients who have selected a series of treatments, and they have the chiseled body to show afterward. #### What is CoolTone

This revolutionary body-building treatment was developed by the same people who brought you CoolSculpting. However, Cool Tone is different from CoolSculpting in that it does not eliminate fat cells. Instead, Cool Tone stimulates muscle fibers, contracting them to help produce a more tight, toned physique. Moreover, this noninvasive treatment is entirely painless and lasts 30 minutes.

CoolTone works using electromagnetic energy to penetrate deep below the skin to target the muscle tissues. This process is scientifically known as magnetic muscle stimulation (MMS). The magnetic energy causes a contraction within the muscle fibers like the contractions you achieve when working out in the gym doing squats and crunches. However, CoolTone causes contractions within the muscles that are more powerful than anything that can be done manually in the gym. In fact, a single 30-minute treatment induces 20,000 powerful contractions. This is a far more intense muscle workout than is humanly possible to achieve on one's own.

Best of all, CoolTone is painless and requires no downtime.

CoolTone treatment areas

As demonstrated in the CoolTone before and after images, this muscle building treatment can target three major muscle groups of the body. This includes:

- The abdomen
- The upper legs
- The buttocks

The FDA cleared treatment firms, strengthens, and tones the abdominal muscles. This results in a stronger core and a more chiseled stomach. Focusing CoolTone on the buttocks, CoolTone firms the gluteals and gives a subtle lift. This provides a non-surgical alternative to a butt lift. CoolTone also targets the muscle groups in the upper legs for firmer thighs.
