There are several factors that determine whether or not you are a good candidate for treatment. Your clinician will discuss all inclusion and exclusion criteria at your consultation to make sure you are the perfect candidate for treatment.

How many treatments are needed?

Everyone is different. Most clients require anywhere from 5 to 8 treatments depending on your skin condition and what area is being treated.

How long does the treatment take?

Treatments take five minutes for a full abdomen and ten minutes for both thighs. Typically, five minutes per selected area.

When can I return to normal activities?

You may return to normal daily activities immediately after treatment. A sunscreen of SPF 30 should always be applied to the treated areas that may be exposed to the sun.

When will I see results?

Results may be seen a few weeks to a month after your last treatment. Remember that the improvement of the appearance of your cellulite is only temporary.
