CoolSculpting Treatment Areas | What Can I CoolSculpt?

CoolSculpting treatment areas allow a dramatic fat reduction in notorious trouble zones. Popular treatment areas include the lower stomach, love handles, inner and outer thighs, chin, back, armpits, upper arms, and more.

KP Aesthetics is a premier CoolSculpting provider that can help you reduce stubborn fat in your most significant problem area.

Popular CoolSculpting Treatment Areas

- Abdomen
- Submental region
- Love handles or flanks
- Inner and outer thighs
- Back fat
- Upper arms
- Double chin and neck
- Armpits

CoolSculpting Abdomen

The lower stomach is one of the most problematic areas in the body. This is because the abdomen tends to hold onto fat, making it extremely hard to lose weight despite a healthy diet and exercise routine. If you are struggling with stubborn fat bulges in the abdomen, CoolSculpting can help. This treatment will freeze those stubborn fat cells and help you achieve a smooth, firm lower stomach. Treating the core typically requires the use of one large applicator or two small applicators, and in some cases, a combination of both. The applicator use will depend on your body size and shape. During your free CoolSculpting consultation with KP Aesthetics, your treatment specialist can help determine the number and size of applicators your treatment will require.

CoolSculpting Love Handles

Love handles, or flanks, are a common CoolSculpting treatment area. This area tends to be the place where unwanted fat cells quickly gather. Treating the flanks is a mirror area treatment (your right and left love handle, at once) and will require two separate CoolSculpting cycles. Only one CoolSculpting machine can be used at a time. Fortunately, Cool Aesthetics offers dual sculpting, the use of two CoolSculpting devices at once, perfect for treating both flanks at the same time.

CoolSculpting Double Chin

The newest applicator in the CoolSculpting family, the CoolMini, is used to treat the double chin and neck area. This applicator was made to treat small areas of fat, such as the double chin, neck fat, and armpit fat. To achieve the most significant fat reduction in these areas, you will require 1 to 2 treatments.

CoolSculpting Thighs

The thighs, typically the inner thighs, is an area that stores extra fat easily. It is no surprise that the thighs are a problem area for many. The latest line of CoolSculpting applicators was made to target and treat the thighs. The CoolFit applicator has an extended cooling plate perfect for treating vertical fat deposits in the inner thighs. The second applicator, the CoolSmooth, is flat and requires no suction. "Saddlebags," or outer thigh fat, collect what is known as "hard fat." This means that the fat in this area is not pinchable like the inner fat.
