HOW DOES BOTOX WORK?

Botox uses a protein known as Botulinum Toxin. Do not let the sound of that scare you away from this treatment, because Botox is perhaps the most extensively studied medical procedure on the market. More than 470 total studies document how Botox is safe and effective for treating cosmetic concerns such as crow's feet or forehead wrinkles.

Botox helps soften harsh lines and wrinkles. The little fine lines and creases begin to appear after decades of repetitive muscle movements of various facial expressions. This cosmetic treatment helps to relax the muscles and smooth out those lines.

It is important to note that Botox is not permanent. Over several months, the biodegradable substance is safely absorbed by the body.
